Orange County Board of Supervisors Support Permanent Housing for Homeless Veterans

On Tuesday, March 15th, the Orange County Board of Supervisors approved the selection of Mercy Housing to construct 49 affordable housing units to homeless veterans. The decision came after Mayor Pro Tem Craig Green spoke to the Board and provided his full support of the project and the critical need to provide these social services to our veterans. Mayor Pro Green shared that he visited a Mercy Housing project in El Monte last year and visited the supportive housing environment for veterans to stabilize and get back into society.

The development, which would be on County land in Placentia near the Yorba Linda Reservoir, is proposed to include services such as job training, job placement, Veterans Affairs benefits assistance and health and wellness. This will serve as the County's largest permanent housing development for homeless veterans.

County staff and Mercy Housing are currently negotiating a lease deal and will bring it back to Board of Supervisors for approval within a couple of months.

Two Placentia Restaurants Make the Top 75 Best Places to Eat in Orange County

On Thursday, March 17th the Orange County Register released its top 75 best places to eat in Orange County in 2016. The City of Placentia's had two restaurants on the list: El Farolito and the newly opened Salt and Ash. Here is what restaurant critic Brad A. Johnson had to say about Placentia's restaurants:

El Farolito, 201 S. Bradford Ave., Placentia, (714) 993-7880, www.elfarolitomex.com

Sometimes there's simply nothing better than combination plates, and for these there is always El Farolito, which has been serving them for more than 40 years. I love the ground-beef tacos with the almost-crispy corn tortillas cooked to that peculiar state of perfection halfway between fried and steamed. Even better are the frozen margaritas, which are somewhat slushy because they just came from a worn-out blender, not a fancy machine.

Salt and Ash, 1390 N. Kraemer Blvd. Placentia, (657) 444-2701, www.saltandash.com

Almost everything on the menu is made from scratch. Pastas are rolled by hand. Burger patties are ground fresh daily, probably at the same time the chefs also are making meatballs. The fries are hand-cut and twice-fried. The fish come from California fishermen. The pork ribs are a California riff on Chinese salt-and-pepper stir-fry. Meanwhile, pork loin is rolled in a bed of ashes. Look toward the kitchen window: Notice the cake dome? Whatever's inside of it, that's what you want.
