"Rich Heritage, Bright Future"

First Indication of West Nile Virus Activity in Orange County for 2018

The Orange County Mosquito and Vector Control District (OCMVCD) has confirmed the first mosquito sample to test positive for West Nile Virus (WNV) in 2018. The mosquitoes were collected from the City of Garden Grove, near Garden Grove Blvd. and Newhope St. on July 3, 2018.

"Although we are hoping that this is going to be a mild season for West Nile virus, it is still critical that residents take the necessary precautions to avoid mosquitoes and mosquito bites," said Robert Cummings, OCMVCD's Director of Scientific Technical Services.

District staff will post signs and distribute flyers alerting residents to the detection of the virus, and preventative measures they can take to reduce becoming infected. Additional inspectors have been deployed to canvas the area to look for mosquito breeding sources, expand public education, and work with city officials to fix infrastructure issues.

West Nile virus is transmitted to humans via the bite of infected mosquitoes, which become infected when feeding on birds carrying the virus. Most individuals infected with WNV will not experience any illness. Others will have flu-like symptoms, such as fever, headache and body aches. In severe cases, people will need to be hospitalized, and in rare cases the disease can be fatal. Young children, the elderly, or individuals with lowered immune systems are at greater risk to experience severe symptoms when infected.

There are no reported birds with West Nile Virus, or confirmed cases of human infections at this time in Orange County.

Since its introduction in 2003, WNV has infected more than 6,500 people and has caused 292 fatalities statewide, according to the California Department of Public Health. West Nile Virus is endemic in California and in Orange County, and presents a risk to public health every year.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know the Placentia Library recently held a Mary Poppins Tea Party?

On Saturday, June 30th guests relaxed, drank tea, enjoyed scones, petit fours and more! The Library Community Meeting Room was transformed into a tea room with a shabby chic theme. The day began with a wonderful tea etiquette and history lecture by Sia Patel, the owner of Tea and Teacups in Yorba Linda. Tea party guests enjoyed reconnecting with friends while listening to the "Mary Poppins" soundtrack and decorating hats to wear! Four lucky winners took home the lovely bird cage and parasol center pieces. Several attendees remarked that the day was "Lovely! Beautifully decorated and fun."

We at the Placentia Library love creating new and exciting programs, so visit our website at www.placentialibrary.org for more fun times that are practically perfect in every way!
